Private Dentistry Lab of the Year 2006

Following on from last years 'Highly Commended award' the Dencraft team pictured above went one step better by winning the 'Lab of the Year Award' at the recent Private Dentistry awards held in London on the 24th November.

Along with the Probe Technician of the Year 2005 & Lab of the Year 2006 this award completes a hat-trick of prestigious awards for the Dencraft team over the last two years. When asked what the formula for such success was Steve & Alison Osgathorpe (Dencraft Partners) commented. " A consistent and never ending drive and desire for excellence in both product and customer service, a fantastic dedicated team, keeping abreast and up to date with new technology products & techniques, and clients who have the same desire and passion to produce high quality cosmetic dentistry for their patients. These awards are not only a great occasion for us and the team but also act as a barometer of our success in achieving the goals we set ourselves".

The Future is Now 'Nobel Guide'

A major addition to Dencraft's products and services during 2006 was 'Nobel Guide' the guided implant system by Nobel Biocare.

Dencraft was one of the first Labs to purchase the software and has a range of services available.

New Recruit Will Woodhouse has been hired by Dencraft for his expertise and Degree qualification in Cad-cam design, and gives Dencraft and its clients that extra dimension in customer support. If you would like more information on Nobel Guide and the services Dencraft offers please contact the Lab on: 0114 2580011.

Jason Update

I am sure you will all be pleased to know that Jason continues to make an excellent recovery from his recent heart operation, and will be back at work when the Lab re-opens on the 04th Jan Jason would like to thank you all for the get- well messages he has received.
